

OLD VIRGINIA MAY MAKE A FRESH START

Low Grade Ore in Abundance.

The Comstock Lode Will Produce for Many Years.

Virginia City, the world's greatest silver camp, from whose lodes of ore have come more than half a billion of dollars, is not the bustling, bustling camp it was in the early speculative days, when a fortune was made and lost within an hour. It is no longer a city of twenty thousand inhabitants, a city of riotous living, a bonanza camp.

Evil days fell upon the Comstock with the decline in silver, whistles of mills and hoisting works one by one lost voice. Population melted away and the streets took on a forsaken look.

The decadence of Virginia was steady and rapid. Now the surplus population have gone, outlying buildings have been torn down and the town rendered more compact.

The census will not show another decrease in Virginia's population for many decades. The great lode is not nearly exhausted. The rich ore now coming out of the Con. Virginia 1900 level is proof that when these mines were producing such vast sums no attempt was made to work them systematically. The richest bunches were couched out and exploration carried on until another "rain in the pudding" was reached.

The ore bodies left behind are not all low grade, as ores are considered now-a-days with our improved methods of extracting values.

Large sections of the Comstock are yet untouched except by surface work. It has lately been demonstrated beyond a doubt that the great lode strikes to the westward beyond the Ophir ground. It facts bear out this well substantiated theory Virginia will remain a good mining camp for a half century.

A Journal reporter, who visited the Comstock yesterday, received information from a most reliable source, namely Superintendent Ross that patents would be applied for on the Summit and Last Chance claims, lying to the westward on the Ophir. Superintendent Ross pointed out this ground to the writer and showed him what are called the Cole workings. These are large outcrops of quartz belted by rhyolite. They carry gold and silver in sufficient quantity to repay working by some economical method. Mr. Ross said:

"There are four hundred thousand tons of low grade ore on the two claims that are extracted by means of open cuts from Spanish gulch. A wire trolley could be put in to conduct the ore to a place where it could be cyanided or worked by some other means."

The notice of application for patent will appear in the next weekly letter.

"Do you propose to carry on mining and ore reduction operations such as you have outlined?"

"As to that I can say nothing at present."

Inquiries were made from different sources and it was learned that between 300 and 400 miners are employed in the different mines, large and small, along the lead. With a payroll of not less than a thousand dollars a day and the bright outlook in several of the mines, noticeably the Con. Cal. & Va., there is no reason why Virginia need fear for the future.

It would seem folly to say there are as many millions remaining in the Comstock as have been taken from it, but, with the undeveloped depths and the vast quantities of low grade ore on the surface, the statement seems reasonable. The only question is, can means be devised for working the low grade ores and extracting the deeply buried bonanza rock at a profit?

A large smelter on the Carson River, or even at Reno, would vastly aid in solving the problem that confronts mine owners and superintendents. With reduction works near at hand, the expense of handling the ores would be materially decreased and vast bodies of ore that are now unprofitable could be worked.

Preparations for the State Fair.

Great preparations are being made for the State Fair. The pavilion is practically completed. The broad veranda at the front and east side of the building adds greatly to its appearance.

Superintendent Shane has had a force of men whitewashing the fences and sheds and painting the buildings. They are assuming a spic and span appearance.

The new arched gateway will also improve the appearance of the grounds.

A number of horses are on the grounds and all are in good form. Some are showing surprising speed. The track is still being worked on and by the time the fair opens it will be one of the fastest on the coast.

No negotiations have yet been concluded with the Reno Wheelmen's Club, but it is probable that a relay race will be one of the features of the fair.

It is proposed to make the mining exhibit one of the features of the week. All State products should be displayed. Nothing would so well advertise the resources of Nevada.

NEAT PRINTING AND QUICK PRINTING

Neatly printed envelopes and letter heads are the best recommendation a business or professional man can send out. Botched job work indicates that the business is a person possessed of careless habits and poor judgment. Good job printing is cheaper than sloppy work in the long run.

This is all introductory to saying that White & Case, the "Quick Printers," are now ensconced in the Journal office. Bir surly of modern material just received. Send in your orders.

Lodge Official's Visit.

M. Boehm, High Chief Ranger, A. O. F., paid an official visit last evening to Court Mount Rose, No. 8354. At the conclusion of the business of the evening a banquet was served and a general good time was indulged in.

PRIDE RUINS MANY EYES.

Why do so many complain of their eyes, simply because they need glasses? In many cases pride keeps one from wearing them. Let pride go and save your eyes by going to Golden's jewelry store where you will find the only graduate optician in the State.

THE WOMAN WITH THE AX

One of the Features of Longabaugh's Wood Camp.

"Governor" Sam Longabaugh is conducting a thriving industry in the mountains west of Washoe Valley. He has a large acreage of fine timber land seven miles above the valley at an altitude of 8500 feet.

Here he has installed a wood camp and sawmill. A dune has been built down to the valley and a hundred cords of wood are daily shot down to the railroad.

There are 25 men employed chopping wood and one woman. Sam says she is the best man he has. She and her husband work a big crosscut saw day after day on the felled monarch of the forest.

Mr. Longabaugh has about a thousand cords of wood down and expects to get 8000 to 10,000 more down before winter comes. The most of this wood is contracted for by the Virginia & Truckee Railroad Company. The product of the sawmill he uses chiefly in building flumes and the balance he disposes of to people in the valley.

A store has been recently established at the foot of the flume. The "Governor" is bringing his stock of goods from the Empire store. The camp is called Ophir.

The wood camp is ideally situated for a summer resort. It is up against the everlasting snow banks within a dense forest of magnificent pines. The woods abound in game and there are two beautiful lakes near the camp, stocked with trout. Some day Sam is going to build a hotel up at the camp.

HIGH JINKS IN THE FOREST

Six Score Renoites Take a Jaunt Over the Summit.

Over one hundred people enjoyed the excursion to Clairville Sunday. Ample and comfortable accommodations were provided by the Nevada-California-Oregon management.

No accident marred the pleasure of the day. After a quick run over the summit of the Sierras and down the eastern slope, through beautiful Sierra Valley, the first group of excursionists alighted. Armed with rod and run they whipped the pools of Grizzly Creek or tramped through the forests.

The majority of the excursionists went on to Clairville, the present terminus of the road, situated on the bank of Feather River, in the midst of the forest primeval.

While a number enjoyed the hospitality of the Clairville Hotel, the others scattered into the wilds with their lunch baskets and made merry around the festive board, which really was not a board at all, but nature's lawn.

Shortly before the time scheduled for the train to leave on the homeward journey a shower began and the "outers" scurried to the cars.

Helping the Roads.

The newly discovered mines at Tonopah and the new smelter in Mason Valley are materially increasing freight and passenger traffic on the Virginia & Truckee and the Carson & Colorado railroads. Coke, lumber and other supplies are daily sent out and ore and bullion brought in.

HOPE-TO-BE'S VS. HAS-BEEN'S

The Benedicts Were no Match for the Bach-elors.

Yesterday witnessed the defeat of the married men at the hands of the single men in a ten-man relay race on the track, says the News.

The day was all that could be desired and some splendid time was made. The attendance was not as large as the event would seem to justify, but the crowd was enthusiastic enough to make up for it.

The event of the day was the riding of Rubie Kelly who made his two miles in 4:40 2-5, the fastest of the day. Mr. Kelly also made the best single mile ever made in the State of Nevada—in 2:11 flat. The State record was previously held by Keddle of Reno, in 2:12, so Kelly beat Keddle's time by a second, besides making his lap on a track that is between fifty and eighty feet longer than the track on which Keddle rode, which makes Kelly's time all the better. The married men were well satisfied by having one of their riders break the State record. It should be mentioned that not one foot of Kelly's mile was paced. His man was half a mile ahead.

When the Bells Will Ring.

The public schools of this city will reopen the first Monday in September. It is probable that the teachers will be assigned to the same rooms as the ones in which they taught last year. Although some changes may be made at the next meeting of the Board which will be held September 22d.

Bills Passed or Passed by.

All Sorts of Incidents Relating to the Big Storm.

Everybody in this city and vicinity is aware that "it" rained. "It" also thundered, lightened and also did other many interesting things. Strange to relate, there was no barometric warning of the storm. For days Sam Hodekinson's aneroid pointed differently at 12 o'clock.

"It" rained on Sunday also and various and diverse were the conditions of the wienickers as they wended their way homewards. The Clairville excursionists fared best for they had the passenger coaches as shelter. Spiro Francovich and a party of friends were not so fortunate. With their empty baskets and no wraps they stood out in the middle of shelterless Washoe Valley at a cross road, waiting for their train.

The poor, but honest prospectors had the earthy marks of honest toil washed from them. There must have been hundreds of people in the hills Sunday.

The storm was greeted with rejoicings. The precipitation of the past two days will do a world of good to the ranges and to the agricultural lands. Little damage was done to crops. The first crop of alfalfa has already been put away and little of the second crop is down. The rain gives assurance that there will be plenty of water for irrigation until the close of the growing season.

The electric storm yesterday afternoon was, with the exception of one last summer, the severest that visited Reno in years. No damage has been reported from the lightning, a tree or two being all that suffered.

The switch board in the Western Union office was not a safe place to be around yesterday afternoon. It emitted all sorts of miniature flashes. The electric light company suffered no damage, but the fire alarm system lost a couple of fuses. The fire bell tapped whenever the wires became overcharged with "juice."

The Sunset Telephone Company fared worst of all. Electrician McFarlin disconnected the switch board from the wire system as soon as the storm commenced and threw the entire exchange out of commission for a couple of hours. After the storm it was found that many of the circuits were retired from business. The damage will all be repaired today.

AN INCREASING EVIL.

It is a noticeable fact that drunkenness is increasing among the Indians in Nevada, and the vice appears to be about equally prevalent among the three principal tribes—the Putes, Shoshones and Washoes. This increase of the white man's vice among the redskins is due solely to the facilities for obtaining plentiful supplies of the forbidden fire water. The sources of supply are the lowest class of Chinese, and the still more degraded white men and women, who are the almost sole violators of the United States and State laws forbidding the sale or giving away of intoxicating liquor to the wards of the federal government.

This is an instance wherein rigid enforcement of the law does not tend to lessen its violation. At every term of the United States District Court there are a dozen or more cases, which almost invariably result in conviction and sentence, and yet the evil is increasing from term to term, as is proven by the number of cases at the present session, which is greater than ever before. The officers are prompt in ferreting out and arresting offenders, the juries do their duty and the court's leniency is generally limited only by the penalty provision of the law itself.

The truth is there is no proper punishment provided for this particular offense. Although generally regarded in the light of petty offenders, their offense is greater and a greater menace to the peace of a community than that of the ordinary thief or footpad. The semi-civilized Indian of Nevada is generally a quiet and peaceful person, seldom in trouble with those of his race, and more seldom with white people, unless egregiously imposed upon. But a few drinks of whisky changes his entire disposition. It arouses all of his savage instincts and he becomes more combative and blood-thirsty than in his primitive condition before subdued or softened by the influence of civilized surroundings.

Imprisonment in a county jail, or even the penitentiary, has no terrors for scarcely any of the creatures guilty of the offense we have mentioned. In fact, most of them regard it as a picnic rather than punishment, with plenty to eat and little or nothing to do, and in quite a number of instances it has been obvious that the "punishment" was the sole purpose of the offense. Certainly something should be done to at least check this growing evil, if it cannot be altogether removed. There is a federal law which provides for the deportation of Chinese criminals. We believe, in fact, that a United States District Judge is empowered to designate such penalty in his sentence, but there are so many complications and so much red tape connected with it that the law is practically a nullity. If it could be simplified and enforced it would settle the question of punishment so far as Chinese offenders are concerned. It is to be hoped that our national law-makers will devise some penalty method which will prove a preventative rather than encouragement to this class of crime.

MACCARONI WHEAT.

BUT very little attention has heretofore been paid to the subject of the growth of macaroni wheat in the United States, but the Department of Agriculture has taken the matter in hand and is out to issue a circular embodying the results of an extended investigation on the part of Mark Alfred Carleton, government cerealist, who spent considerable time in Russia, where the greatest proportion of the world's crop of macaroni wheat is raised. Mr. Carleton's report contradicts the erroneous impression that the soil and climate in the United States are not adapted to the more hardy varieties of wheat, such as are necessary for macaroni manufacture, and Secretary Wilson is prepared to demonstrate in his circular that it is possible to raise enough of this kind of wheat on the semi-arid plains of the west to supply all of that article of food that is consumed in this country. Practical tests have been made with Russian macaroni wheats, which demonstrate the fact they can be successfully cultivated in the Dakotas, Utah, Kansas, Colorado, Texas, Idaho, Nevada and California. Although Oregon and Washington are not mentioned, we are under the impression that the experiment has been successfully tried in those States and that considerable of the product has been shipped to San Francisco for use in the macaroni factories in that city. The total amount of foreign macaroni wheat imported is estimated at about 15,000,000 bushels every year, while the domestic crop of this year, which has already been contracted for, aggregates only about 100,000 bushels.

This is a subject well worthy the attention of the farmers and land owners in Nevada. Doubtless the Agricultural department of our State University could furnish some interesting information in regard to it, although we are not aware that any practical tests have been made in this State, and our attention was directed to the subject by an article in an eastern paper which could discern no reason why the States mentioned in the coming circular should not raise enough macaroni wheat to supply the domestic demand. Certainly, if the soil and climate are suitable, Nevada offers other greater inducements to growers than any of the States named, for she has a larger amount of land that could be made productive and which could be acquired for far less price than in either of the others, and in regard to the area, probably more than any three of them combined. The forthcoming circular ought and perhaps will have the effect to further the irrigation project now pending in Congress, for it will add another, to the already conceded possibilities of the semi-arid region of the country, whose only present use, to the people or the government is for railroads to pass over from one more favored section to another.

IRELAND'S WORLD'S FAIR.

It has not been represented that the World's Fair business has been ever financially very profitable, so it can be scarcely the certainty of a good thing that is prompting so many communities to go into the speculation. There may be a spirit of rivalry about it, a confidence that there will be great honor and perhaps profit, and so the thing goes on. While the Columbian Exposition was still going on, the Paris Exposition was being arranged, and while the French show was being enjoyed, the details of the affair at Buffalo were being determined. Before this was opened St. Louis and Charleston were seeking aid from Congress for the same purpose.

And now Ireland has entered the field and a World's Fair has been arranged to come off at Cork next year. A donation from the government of $275,000 has already been secured for a departmental display building, which it proposes to fill with exhibits. An ideal space containing thirty acres has been selected; a small river runs through the grounds clear and placid; parts of the tract are heavily wooded and yet all is within the city limits, connected with the business portion of which by electric trams. Negotiations have already begun with the transportation companies, including the transatlantic concerns, for securing such favorable low rates as will induce visitors from the far away to visit the "old country," with the international fair as the special attraction.

JUDGE TALBOT'S decision in the case of Webster & Son against Washoe county was not based upon the fact that plaintiff's bid for the county printing was not the lowest one, but because the reasons for rejecting the lower bid were not placed upon the record of the proceedings of the Board of County Commissioners. At least the Court ruled that the reasons should have been entered upon the minutes and that such omission barred the plaintiff from introducing the oral testimony of the members of the Board as to the cause of rejection. It was a matter in which the present management of The Journal was not peculiarly interested, but the above, as we understand them, are the facts.

THE Carson Appeal is away off in likening the Oklahoma land drawing by the government, to the State lottery scheme which was defeated in the last Legislature. The two are no more akin than is the drawing of the names of jurymen from a box to guessing the "baby card" in a three card monte game.

THE Ledger says "The Journal's Democracy is a kind that we can not understand." We are afraid that our esteemed neighbor's understanding is deficient in some other respects—geography, for instance. It "supposes" that Newark, Ohio, is in the State of New Jersey.

THE reports of the shortage in the foreign wheat crops indicate that there will be plenty of demand for all the wheat that American farmers may harvest and at prosperity prices.

THE price of sheet steel was advanced $20 a ton last week, and still the steel trust managers declare that the strike of the steel workers is having no effect.

MINING IN THIS STATE

Culled News of Nevada's Most Important Industry.

The Nitter Mining Company received two cartloads of lumber this week.

On the authority of Jim Butler, discoverer of Tonopah, the district is producing $10,000 per day.

A contract has been let in Carson for 4500 feet of air pipe for the North Rapidan mine at Como, Lyon county.

A strike was recently made in the Bay State mine at Newark and the ore is now being taken out and sacked for shipment.

General Manager Van Wagenen has made Frank Garrison, a Colorado miner, foreman of the Nevada Copper Company's mines.

The Con. Virginia Mining Company paid $4000 bullion tax to Storey county for the last quarter. This is a reminder of old times.

Joseph Bray has three men at work in his shaft at Copper Flat. The shaft is down nearly 200 feet and the ore is said to be increasing in richness.

Wm. Marsh who has been prospecting new ground north of the Mispah ledge in the Tonopah district, recently made a new strike on his lease.

The following Comstock mining companies levied assessments yesterday: Mexican and Belcher, ten cents per share each; Best & Belcher, 15 cents per share and Sex. Belcher, 15 cents per share.

A movement is in progress to consolidate the mining locations at Red canyon, Douglas county, by a Gardnerville company. There is said to be 500 tons of ore in sight that will mill from $20 to $100 in gold per ton.

The second trial run of 100 tons of Con. California and Virginia first-grade ore at the Kinkadee mill was completed last Monday and the mill is again pulverizing a daily average of over fifty tons of material from the waste dumps at the C. and C. shaft.

Some heavy bits of freight have been unloaded at the Elko freight depot this week in the shape of four battery blocks, weighing seven tons each. They are for the Lucky Girl mining company's mill near White Rock, and are now waiting on the depot platform with quite a lot of other mill and mine machinery to be freighted out to White Rock.—Free Press.

The Con. Cal. & Va. Co. has received $4449 59 in gold coin from the sale of concentrates representing the returns from the first test run of 100 tons of first grade ore at the Kinkadee mill made last month. The returns on the run of 100 tons that mill will not yet have been received. The company passed the August dividend and will declare no more until adequate facilities for milling the ore are secured. The company will probably have a surplus of over $80,000 in its treasury after paying July expenses.—Virginia Chronicle.
